Cong. Kind Response to State of the Union Address

Washington, DC – U.S. Rep. Ron Kind (D-WI) issued the following statement in response to President Bush's State of the Union Address:

"The President should pursue an agenda to unite America again. That starts with a clear vision on Iraq that will lead to a responsible exit strategy; a focus on rising healthcare costs, energy independence, and the quality of education for our children. We must also see a return to fiscal responsibility so we can balance the budget again, grow our economy, and make America more secure."

"In addition to pursuing these key priorities, confronting the challenges to ensure America's strength also requires a commitment to rise above partisan politics to work together to lead America into a new era of security and prosperity. Only then will the policies of Washington reflect the priorities of the American people. And only then will the state of our union be as strong as the American people. Working together, we can do better."
